EB2 Approval for Physical Therapist

EB2 Approval for Physical Therapist ^[1]

Submitted by Rajiv S. Khanna on May 8th 2012

We have recently received an EB2 approval for a Physical Therapist. EB2 classification has become especially important now that EB3 category cases for severely backlogged countries are delayed so much. The good news with PT's is that they do not have to go through the PERM process. But the bad news is that USCIS seems to question whether or not truly a Master's degree or BS+5 years level job is being offered. The I-140 approval took 1.5 months in regular processing.
